Make resolutions? Me? Not in this lifetime! I have absolutely not a single plan, goal, objective, or dream and can think of nothing whatsoever to share with my fellow club members. (Aw, come on, now. Are you SURE you want to select this response?)	33.33% 4

#	My hobby plans (or hopes) for 2016:	Date
1	Finish the Lionel projects I have previously started, and maybe find a few more this year !	1/30/2016 4:46 PM
2	to be able to spend more quality time in my train room this year - trying to scenic the layout. Last year was essentially a write off for family matters	1/20/2016 10:17 PM
3	Enjoy trains with my family. Try to get to a York, PA show. Win the tickets to the KC Convention!	1/20/2016 8:50 PM
4	I finally got TMCC to work with my TMCC locos. Now to get it to work the non TMCC stuff. Working. Will continue to add small details to my layout and make a few minor changes.	1/12/2016 9:18 PM
5	I have too much stuff. Resolution for 2016: If a buy something I gotta SELL something.	1/10/2016 6:25 PM
6	To attend the convention in July.. We are taking Amtrak from FI to Kansas City..Start small and build a full time layout.	1/8/2016 11:50 AM
7	Finally start that new layout.	1/3/2016 10:02 PM
8	I am designing a new retirement home. I want a smaller footprint with a dedicated space for my future layout. I am planning ahead for my once in a lifetime dream.	1/3/2016 4:22 PM
9	I resolve (actually, I'm not sure that I'm resolving as much as hoping) to complete the scenery on the level, town-and-country portion of my layout so that I can start building up my courage to start on the mountain portion in 2017! Completing the town part would be a whole lot easier if I could find a better variety of suburban homes, either built up or as kits, on the market. Even including Lionel, MTH and Model Power, there don't seem to be many houses available; commercial structures are plentiful but where do their proprietors, employees and customers LIVE? Oh yes, I also resolve to keep experimenting with a Lionel IR detector to try to achieve greater dependability; my older ones all work flawlessly, the redesigned new ones not so well.	1/1/2016 12:41 PM
